MATERIAL FACT

Transmissora Aliança de Energia Elétrica S.A. (B3: TAEE3, TAEE4 and TAEE11) ("Taesa" or "Company"), in compliance with article 157, §4 of Law 6.404/76 ("Corporate Law") and Resolution 44, of August 23, 2021, of the Brazilian Securities and Exchange Commission ("CVM"), hereby announces to its shareholders, the market in general and to other interested parties the proposal for distribution of earnings. Aiming to execute the strategic planning and provide greater predictability for the market, the calculation basis for the distribution of the Company's earnings will be the regulatory net income from 2024 onwards.

For the 2024 fiscal year, the proposed distribution of earnings will be at least 75% of the regulatory net income. From the 2025 fiscal year onwards, the Company's intention is to propose the distribution of earnings between 90% and 100% of the regulatory net income.

This proposed distribution of earnings does not generate acquired rights for shareholders, with the entire distribution being subject to the Company's cash generation and financial situation, the need to allocate resources to cover investment plans, as well as applicable corporate approvals.

The proposal does not change the distribution of minimum mandatory dividends provided for in Taesa's Bylaws (Article 29), which consists of a non-cumulative annual dividend of at least 50% of the adjusted net income for the year, in accordance with Article 202 of the Corporate Law. Thus, the calculated annual distribution value must always be greater than or equal to 50% of the IFRS net income for the year, following the due legal and statutory adjustments.

The change in the calculation basis for the distribution of earnings to regulatory net income reinforces the Company's strategy based on sustainable growth and financial strength and allows for greater predictability in the distribution of earnings based on Taesa's cash generation.
